

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

The Burlington Savings bank has redeemed a $2 bill of 1835, which was sent in by a New York man.

Pending the arrival of Roy Peaslee from New Hampshire, H. A. Dwinell is acting as Chittenden county agricultural agent.

A Massachusetts man, motoring through Vermont, expressed surprise at the large acreage of wheat to be seen on all sides.

A unit of the students' army training corps is to be established at Middlebury college, an officer having been assigned to duty there.

Rutland painters, L. E. Wood, aged 19, and George Woodward, aged 70, fell 45 feet from a scaffolding and were badly injured recently.

Thirty-six fresh air children from New York have taken possession of Bellows Falls. They have been distributed among the farmers in that vicinity.

A bad cut resulted when Capt. J. M. Hamilton of Rutland, stationed at Fort Williams, Portland, Me., dropped a surgical knife on his foot, but he is recovering.

Not so much as a "blow-out" marred a 1,000-mile motor trip which Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mead of West Rutland recently completed.

Ray F. Russell of Mill village, near Rutland, is an enthusiastic wheat grower, especially since he picked a stalk that measured four feet.

The recent death of Mrs. Levi P. Morton recalls that her husband, a native of Sharon and once vice-president, is still living at the age of 95. He retired from public life many years ago.

Milton's Red Cross branch realized handsomely from an out-door pageant given by the Bluebird camp on the shores of Lake Champlain.

North Troy people think so much of their local band that they voted in special meeting to appropriate an extra $150 that outdoor concerts may be continued till cold weather.

Out of the state men who are seeking to organize the milk producers are telling the farmers that there are fifteen ways of selling milk in New England when there should be but one.

Rutland police took a revolver from Mabel Flinders, who was dressed up in a boy's suit. It is alleged that she tried the hold-up game and the state's attorney is investigating.

Farmers gathered in the town hall at Grand Isle were bent on settling a dispute over the value of seed corn which did not grow until the parties immediately involved settled their differences informally.

Dogs took toll of several fine sheep owned by A. G. DeRune of Greensboro recently, and the application for the elimination of the worthless cur has been renewed in that section.

Parishioners of St. Paul's Universalist church in Rutland have received announcements of the wedding of their pastor, Rev. Clifford R. Stetson, and Miss Margaret Tower of North Adams, Mass. The wedding took place in Jacksonville.

Seven of the largest public school buildings in Burlington will burn soft coal next winter. School commissioners reached this decision, not because they were unable to procure coal, but because the shift to soft coal meant that there would be 800 tons more of anthracite available for homes in the city.

M. F. Rooney, a Rutland lumber man, has purchased over 1100 acres of timber land on Cold river in Mendon from the Clarendon Power company and will begin extensive lumbering operations. This part of Mendon was lumbered over many years ago. Many families lived there but the mills and cottages have disappeared through decay. Tilled land has grown up to forest and farms have been abandoned. Even the cemetery is almost obliterated. Mr. Rooney will build several houses for his workmen.

Injured in Bellows Falls.

Dr. W. F. Hazleton had a leg badly injured in an automobile accident at Bellows Falls Saturday evening. In turning out for a lumber team he collided with a telephone pole, badly damaging the car.
